Art. 9

Taxes and fees

The contributory requirements for enrollment and registration to PhD Courses were established with the resolutions of the Academic Senate and the Academic Board of 27th June 2019 and 24th October 2023.

At the time of enrollment, the admitted candidate, Italian and foreign, with and without scholarship, is required to pay through the PagoPA® system the amount of € 156,00 (equal to € 140,00 regional tax and € 16,00 virtual stamp).

Admitted candidates, not beneficiaries of a scholarship, are exempted from paying fees in favor of the University.

Admitted candidates, beneficiaries of a scholarship or other financial support, are required to pay, for each year of the PhD course, an all-inclusive contribution quantified according to the ISEE income classes generally defined for student's contribution.

At the beginning of each year of the PhD Course following the first one, the PhD student admitted attending the following year must renew the enrollment, using the procedure available at the following link <https://unime.esse3.cineca.it>.

At the time of enrollment/registration, the PhD student beneficiary of a scholarship must express his/her consent to the acquisition of "ISEE Dottorato" by the University. Otherwise, he/she will be placed in the highest income bracket.

The request to issue the "ISEE Dottorato" certificate must be made at the CAF or other appointed subjects, preferably before enrollment/registration.

The amount of the PhD all-inclusive annual contribution is calculated based on the acquisition of "ISEE Dottorato" through the INPS Application Cooperation system and must be paid, as prescribed by the PagoPA® system, respecting the deadlines and the indications defined by the University in the Contribution Document of PhD students available on the University's website.

The penalty fee for late payment of the single deadlines is € 28,00.

Admitted foreign candidates (belonging or not to the European Union), non-residents and not producing income in Italy, are required to pay a PhD single annual all-inclusive contribution equal to € 750,00.

For total and/or partial exemption from the payment of taxes and fees, reference is made to what is expressly stated by the Regulations on student's contributions and in the Contribution Document for PhD students.

Art.10 Scholarships

The PhD scholarship of this Call starts from the date indicated in the Rector's Decree of assignment of the scholarship. The scholarship is annually renewed, following a positive verification by the PhD Academic Board about the completion of the program of the activities planned for the previous year, as foreseen by art. 20 of the PhD Regulation of the University of Messina.

Starting from 1st July 2022, the annual amount of the scholarship for the attendance of the PhD courses is equal to € 16.243,00, gross of social security charges payable by the recipient.

The increase of 10% should be intended as a total fund, available for PhD students with and without scholarship, and should be assigned according to the mobility needs of each one.

The scholarship cannot be combined with any other scholarship, assigned for any purpose, except for those granted by Italian or foreign Institutions useful for integrating the PhD student's training and research activity with stays abroad. PHD Scholarships funded ex D.M. No 630/2024 M4C2 - Inv. 3.3. "Introduction to innovative doctorates responding to the innovation needs of companies and promoting the recruitment of researchers in companies."	N.2 SCYLLA BIOTECH SRL	Use of caspase inhibitors to treat arbovirus disease: a host directed approach to defeat persistent infections. Arboviruses, such as Chikungunya virus, Dengue virus, West Nile virus, and Zika virus, are RNA viruses that pose a threat to global health. The mechanisms of arbovirus persistence in humans, which are critical for viral evolution, disease dynamics, and public health, are poorly defined. The aim of this study is to comprehensively investigate the molecular mechanisms of arbovirus replication and persistence and their interactions with the host to identify therapeutic targets. Recent studies have highlighted the importance of a novel innate pathway initiated by ZBP1, an RNA sensor, that leads to the induction of interferon-responsive host protective genes in the brain. The primary objective of the study is to test whether agents capable of activating the RIPK3 pathway, such as caspase-8 or cIAP1/2 inhibitors, can be used to treat persistent infections in a neonatal model of Zika virus disease.	The research program includes a 18 months research period in the company, and a 6 months research period abroad.
	N.1 Hospitex International S.R.L.	Application of molecular methods to liquid-phase cytology. Fine-needle aspiration and exfoliative cytology play an increasingly important role in pathology for both diagnostic and predictive-prognostic purposes. In fact, the low invasiveness of the method often allows, in various pathological fields, to obtain material on which to make a specific diagnosis and at the same time to have a sample available on which to perform molecular pathology analyses for prognostic and therapeutic purposes. In this sense, thin-layer cytology methods that allow to obtain better samples for pathological diagnostics could also represent a better sample on which to perform molecular analyses. The aim of this collaboration/study is to test NGS methods with different types of panels for the analysis of genetic alterations on DNA and RNA extracted from samples taken by thin-layer cytology in tumor contexts such as thyroid, lung or urological. The analysis will allow to develop such analysis methodologies for this type of sample.	The research program includes a 6 months research period in the company, and a 6 months research period abroad.
